TO TAKE CITY HALL CASE TO HIGH COURT WEDNESDAY

Denial of Rehearing By District Court of Appeals Was Anticipated.

The Attorney General May Take Part in Interest of the Plaintiffs in Controversy.

All necessary arrangements for bringing the city hall site controversy before the Supreme Court have been completed.

Next Wednesday the appeal for a rehearing of the case in the high court will be filed.

The denial of a rehearing by the District Court of Appeals Thursday was expected. On December 3, when the Appellate Court handed down the now famous ruling, holding that the initiative and referendum can apply only to legislative matters and not to administrative, and that the locating of a city hall was an administrative matter, Attorney C. S. Hannum said: "It is evident from the wording of the opinion that the Appellate Court anticipated the matter would be taken to the Supreme Court."

Hannum declared yesterday that the rehearing was asked in the Appellate Court merely to gain time until Chief Justice Angellotti and Associate Justices Lawlor and Shaw could take the Supreme Court bench.

Judge Angellotti is a strong supporter of the initiative and referendum. He sustained California direct legislation law in the famous Phalen case in Los Angeles.

The case is, of course, in no way settled. Even if the Supreme Court should uphold the lower court in the decision that the people have no right to say where their public buildings shall be placed, there are still other steps that may be taken.

The case may drag on until new councilmen are elected, in which case, say eminent authorities, an entirely new site could be chosen, regardless of the fact that the Wall offer has been accepted.

And there is a possibility that the new State Legislature will amend the present initiative and referendum law so as to specifically include administrative matters.

The Harbor Center Land Company's offer, which the city council accepted, is that the company will build a $15,000 building, providing that the city pay back $13,320 in rent at the rate of $185 per month, providing further that the city keep the building insured for $10,000 for ten years, all loss payable to the Harbor Center Land Company.

And it further provides that the city shall acquire no right to the building unless it occupies it continuously for ten years.

The Nicholl offer was 38 lots, a $25,000 building, which the city was to have absolutely free use of. No rent was to be paid nor insurance. If it were occupied for ten years it was to become the property of the city. When this offer was made a $25,000 deposit was placed in the Central National Bank of Oakland and is still deposited there.

In the Wall, or Harbor Center Land Company, offer the city is in no way obligated. Thus if the councilmen elected next summer are so minded they can reject the Wall offer and accept another.

An interesting feature of the case, the ruling in which dealt such a blow to California's oldest system of government by the people, is that Attorney General U. S. Webb has shown

FIRST SHIPMENT IN BIG CONTRACT WILL SUPPLY CANAL ZONE IN 1915 THE 'RICHMOND' GOES TO ATLANTIC

"PRIDE OF FLEET" STANDARD OIL CO. TRANSFERRED TO BAYONNE REFINERY TO FURNISH PANAMA IN 1915

The big oil tanker Richmond, "the pride of the Standard fleet," will leave Wednesday for the Atlantic coast. In the future she will be used in shipments from the Standard's biggest refinery at Bayonne, N. J. The Atlantic coast business has been left without adequate shipping facilities on account of the war, many British sailing tankers having been called to England.

The Richmond is a sister ship to the El Segundo, and the Moffett, but is better fitted out and faster than either of them, so that she is considered the crack ship of the S. O. fleet.

She has a capacity of 65,000 barrels, and will carry a full cargo of oil to Panama on her way via the canal to her future beat on the eastern coast.

It is an excellent advertisement for Richmond to have the world's crack tanker bearing her name.

The tanker El Segundo has just completed her loading at Alaska, and will soon return to the local refinery.

Tank barges No. 93 and No. 95, loaded with oils, gasoline and greases from the local refinery, departed from Long Wharf, bound for Panama, yesterday with the first shipment of an immense new contract, which with the beginning of 1915 the Standard Oil Company has entered into with the federal government. The big concern has secured the contract which has formerly been held by the Union Oil Company, for the exclusive supply of all crude oil products to be used in the canal zone.

Barge No. 93 has a capacity of 30,000 barrels and barge No. 95 is the largest on the coast, with the capacity of 55,000 barrels. They will make the trips throughout the year, and the entire contract of nearly 500,000 barrels annually will be supplied exclusively from the Richmond refinery.

HIGH REQUIEM PLANNED FOR DEAD DIVINE

High requiem mass will be celebrated for Most Reverent Father Patrick W. Riordan at 9 a. m. Tuesday in the San Pablo Catholic church. The church will be draped in deep mourning for the beloved prelate, for whose death the whole state grieves.

Rev. J. Porta will lead the services.

MILL MEETING TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY

Two Backers of Big Project to Be Introduced to Gathering of Business Men.

A meeting of local business men will be held in Polytechnic College auditorium Tuesday night when the two men who have been negotiating for a site for a flour mill will be introduced.

Two other sites are being considered by the promoters and quick action is necessary here in Richmond, as they must decide in a few weeks on those sites.

If the plant is located in Richmond it will mean the eventual investment of more than $100,000 and the permanent employment of about twenty men. The proposed plant would be modern in every way. The new roller process will be used in the manufacture of flour.

The two backers of the project have declared that they are in no way connected with the notoriously unfair Sperry Flour Company.

CZAR'S MEN HOLD GERMANS: FOUR RUSS ARMIES ADVANCING

LONDON, Jan. 2.—Despite continued fighting on the Bzura and Rawka rivers, in Poland, the Germans are no nearer Warsaw than they were a week ago.

According to Petrograd reports, the Russians continued to sweep the Austrians before them along the Southern Galician railroad toward Brybow and Neusandec and out of the northern foothills of the Carpathians. The Russians, it is said, have organized a new campaign against Hungary, advancing in four columns along the mountains. This, say reports, is not merely a raid, but a regular invasion.

The land fighting in the west—Belgium and France—has not changed the situation.

PYTHIAN SISTERS PREPARE TO INSTALL

Preparations for the big installation of officers on the night of Jan. 9 were made at the regular business meeting of Contra Costa Temple of Pythian Sisters, held last night in Pythian Castle. It is planned to serve refreshments during the evening.

Past Grand Chief Mrs. Cora Langridge will be the installing officer. She will be assisted by Past Chief Mrs. Florence Fleeler and Mrs. Carrie Hood of Calantha Temple of Oakland.

The refreshment committee is composed of Mrs. J. F. Cassidy, J. A. Gregory and H. J. Hill.

Local Girl Weds in Georgia town; met in Michigan—Betrothed in Cal.

Miss Daisy Smith, Prominent Member of Cavalry Church, Is Bride.

Bridegroom Is Don Charles Huey—Honeymoon in Tennessee and South Carolina.

Miss Daisy Smith, very prominent in church circles, president of the Philathea class of the Calvary Baptist church, and member of the same class of the Wesley Methodist church, was married to Don Charles Huey, at College Park, Ga. The marriage was exceptionally elaborate and was held at the home of the bridegroom's parents, who are wealthy residents of the beautiful Macon suburb.

The bride wore a gown of white satin, trimmed with rare old lace, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. After the wedding they departed on a honeymoon through Tennessee and South Carolina. They will make their home in College Park after Jan. 15.

Huey is a traveling salesman for an Eastern house, and is well known in Richmond, as he lingered here for some time, previous to taking Miss Smith East with him for the marriage. They have been close friends since their childhood together in Michigan, and the marriage is the culmination of a nation-wide romance.

LEAVE FOR HANFORD.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mason of 230 Seaside avenue left last night for a two weeks' visit with relatives and friends in Hanford. Mason is a carpenter in the employ of the Standard Oil Company.

Zephyr Lodge of Rebekahs is making preparations for a joint installation with the Odd Fellows on the night of January 9. The installation ceremonies will be held in Fraternal Hall. At the conclusion of the business of the evening a whist party is planned.

POLYTECHNIC IS PURCHASED BY BIG COMPANY

Name to Be Changed to Oakland-Richmond Business College.

The Polytechnic Business College, located at Fourth and Macdonald, and which has in its past four years of fast growing life here, established an excellent record, has been purchased outright from the Polytechnic Business College Company, by Principal R. C. Anderson, who founded and has managed the local institution.

The Oakland head of the string of business colleges on the Pacific Coast has disposed of its Ashland, Ore., school and will sell others that it possesses. They have recently moved into new quarters at Thirteenth and Madison. W. E. Gibson, president of the company, has retired from active school management, to campaign for the office of mayor of Oakland.

The name of the local school will be changed to the Oakland-Richmond Business College. During the coming year the greatest of attention will be paid to each and every student that attends the school, to maintain the high standard set by the school in past years.

TUG FAILS TO MOVE DREDGER: 12 MORE WORKERS DEMAND PAY

Attempt to Tow Los Arboles to Oakland Futile—Sticks in Mud

Richmond Returns to the Daily News

Raymond S. Richmond, until recently one of the proprietors and editors of the Auburn Daily Journal of Auburn, Placer county, with this issue becomes city editor of the Daily News, succeeding Paul Neiman, who has tendered his resignation to assume a position on one of the San Francisco dailies.

Richmond is no stranger to the people of Richmond. He was formerly city editor of the News, leaving here in June to embark in business in Auburn. Having wound up his business in the Placer county seat, he decided to return to Richmond, the city of his name.

Richmond is a newspaperman of wide experience, having at various times been connected with papers in the Sacramento valley and in Montana. He is thoroughly acquainted with the local field.

When "Rich" looks you up for that story, give it to him.

TRAINMEN BALL IS ATTENDED BY HUGE CROWD LAST NIGHT

Beneath decorations of red, green and white, scores of dancers waltzed, two-stepped and did everything else in the Terpsichorean dictionary at the ball of Richmond Lodge, Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, given last night in the new Pillow building. The evening was one of unstinted pleasure. Good music, capable floor management, the decorations and a tastefully arranged program all combined in making the evening one never to be forgotten by those in attendance.

A decorative feature was the tasty display of trainmen's lanterns. The music was furnished by Swartz' orchestra.

The ball was the first to be given in the Pillow building. It was a fitting affair for a room that will be the scene of many enjoyable events in the future.

The spacious floor was crowded. Not until the night was old and the morning young did the crowd disperse.

The attendance was not strictly a local one. Visitors were present from Berkeley, Oakland, San Francisco, Stockton, Riverbank and Calwa.

The committee that arranged for the ball was composed of J. E. Wright, Fred Spinney and Daniel Lock.

At a delightful party given Thursday night, Miss Myrtle Best was hostess to the members of the Dorcas class of the First Presbyterian church at her home on Nevin avenue. Those present were Misses Ivy Lee, Myrtle Spires, Sarah Spires, Josephine Fuller, Rose Bender, Helen Angell, Maude Fulgrum, Maurine Schafer, Marie Trowbridge, Mildred Best, Myrtle Best and Miss Octavia Norton, teacher of the class.

New Attachment to Be Placed On Erstwhile Property of the Western Reclamation Co.

"I'll Pay You Monday," Says Wright—Laborers Are Sceptical and Employ Attorney.

This is another chapter in the dark history of the dredger Los Arboles, formerly owned by the Western Reclamation Company.

Broken promises, contracts unfulfilled, wages of workers unpaid, federal court actions, the United States marshal and prominent attorneys and a young contractor who failed, all figure in the history.

Twelve laborers who claim they have been bilked yesterday placed their case against the present owner of the dredger.

The dredger, checked in its flight from Richmond, is stuck in the mud flats and a powerful tug is unable to move it.

Sold recently to pay the claims of various companies and a number of workmen who waited weary months for their pay, another attachment will be placed on the Los Arboles Monday by Attorney C. S. Hannum, representing the twelve laborers who want their pay.

When the dredger was placed up for sale by the U. S. marshal to meet the attachment, Maurice Rosenthal, a prominent San Francisco wholesale clothing man, bought it for $3550.

Frank V. Wright, his wife and his daughter, who are the sole stockholders of the Portola Realty Company of Alameda, and who are the silent partners in the Western Reclamation Company, it is claimed, were the real purchasers, merely supplying Rosenthal the money.

Wright being a partner of Just Anderson of the Western Reclamation Company, owned the dredger prior to its sale to Maurice. It is broadly hinted that there has been some expert manipulating to get the dredger sold for one certain attachment, to get Rosenthal to buy it back for Wright.

After the sale, Wright came to Richmond last Tuesday, declaring that Rosenthal had employed him to move it to Oakland. Accordingly he hired twelve laborers at 30 cents an hour to load on the pipe that was used to suck up the mud, and prepare for the cruise to Oakland.

Yesterday the task was completed and the men asked for their pay. Was it forthcoming? It was not. "I'll pay you Monday," said Mr. Wright.

The laborers, to each of whom $12.50 was owing, were sceptical and took their case to Attorney Hannum.

Hannum planned at first to attach only the pipe, as he could do that in the local justice court, an attachment on the dredger would mean the obtaining of a federal libel, or attachment. He phoned to the Wright home, 648 Taylor street, Alameda. Mrs. Wright answered and told Hannum that her husband was in San Francisco.

Mr. Wright was not in and Mrs. Wright did not seem very interested.

The tug, in the meantime, had arrived from Oakland and everything was ready for the flight to Oakland. But the ill-favored old Los Arboles got stuck in the mud. Apparently it revolted. All efforts to move it were in vain.

So if it can only keep a toe hold in the mud until Monday another attachment will be slapped on it for the wages of the twelve laborers.

Twelve more working men are added to the long waiting list.

It is a dark history, that of the dredger Los Arboles.

WE WANT NO "COSSACKS."

Labor has taken prompt action to defeat the proposed bill establishing a state constabulary in California to relieve the National Guard of the duty of serving in strikes and lockouts.

The proposed constabulary would be similar to that of Pennsylvania, where the members of it are known as the "Cossacks," and where it has been used by the enemies of organized labor to crush trades unionism and to create lawlessness and disorder in the name of the law.

The proposal to organize the new state police grew out of the unwillingness of many members of the National Guard to serve in labor troubles.

Resolutions condemning the measure will undoubtedly be adopted by all the central labor bodies of the state.

Labor men do not believe that the bill has any chance of passage, but they are taking no chances.

HE CHOSE THE CLUB.

New Year's Day George Druer, 22 years old, was clubbed by New York police for carrying a banner with this uncouth, vulgar, lawless and inflammatory inscription: "To hell with charity."

Druer was marching with several hundred unemployed men and women who had just completed a meeting in Union Square. The police, we are told, did not interrupt the meeting, which was peaceful throughout. That was very considerate of the police, when one realizes that all of the men were poorly dressed, hungry and altogether unrespectable.

But Druer carried a banner in which he expressed the attitude of the crowd towards charity.

He wanted none of charity, nor did his fellows.

It was indiscreet and immoral of young Druer to use a swear word on that banner. Maybe that was the reason he was clubbed. A clubbing is rather severe punishment for saying hell, but it is by far the most charitable view to take of the affair.

If he wasn't clubbed and imprisoned for swearing, he must have been clubbed because he publicly announced that he didn't want charity. If he didn't want charity, he must have wanted work, unless he enjoyed starving, which is unlikely.

We always thought it a praiseworthy sentiment, this hatred of charity. It was so "American," we thought. But Druer got clubbed for saying he would have none of it.

New York's attitude is apparently, "Take ye soup or the club."

Druer chose the club, to his everlasting glory among men.

EDISON, THE PROPHET.

Thomas A. Edison, looking into the future, thinks the prospects of the laboring man is a particularly bright one.

"In two hundred years, the cheapening of commodities, the ordinary laborer will live as well as a man does now with $200,000 annual income. Automatic machinery and scientific agriculture will bring about this result," Mr. Edison says. "Not individualism, but social labor, will dominate the future; you can't have individual machines and every man working by himself. Industry will constantly become more social and interdependent. There will be no manual labor in the factories of the future. The men in them will be merely superintendents, watching the machinery to see that it works right."

"The work day, I believe, will be eight hours. Every man needs that much work to keep him out of mischief and to keep him happy. But it will be work with the brain, something that men will be interested in, and done in wholesome, pleasant surroundings. Less and less man will be used as an engine, or as a horse, and his brain will be employed to benefit himself and his fellows."

GET OFF HIS BACK.

A noted American divine, Bishop Fallows, speaking of the duty of non-union men to their fellows, said: "They are profiting by their labors and sacrifices, and ought to recognize the sacredness of their obligation to them."

The cause of labor is not something that can be advanced without effort. Someone has to pay the price in labor and sacrifice. The labor union is the only agency that can be depended on to protect and promote the interests of the worker.

Every worker outside the union is a burden on those inside.

There is a French cartoon that pictures the peasant of a hundred years ago plowing in a field, a gilded marquis on his back, tapping his gilded snuff box. Another cartoon shows the French peasant of today, still at the plow. On his back is an armed soldier who should be at another plow, while on the back of the soldier rides the second burden of Shylock, the money lender.

The union worker has enough to carry on his shoulders, without the added burden of his non-union fellow worker.—Ex.

A Submarine Episode

By F. A. MITCHEL

There was a time when warfare, its appurtenances, its novelties, indeed, everything pertaining to it, was public property. The Japanese changed all that, making everything secret. Since the Russo-Japanese fight the war correspondent has had a hard time of it, and many officers are pledged not to reveal what occurs in the line of their duty. When I was assigned to the command of a submarine I was obliged to make pledges that prevent my giving certain points connected with this story.

Before I was ordered to attempt to blow up an enemy's ship I was given time to get used to my submarine. This did not take long, though at first I confess sinking down under water made me creep a bit. When I had had a couple of weeks of it I was ordered on several attempts that were all failures. The difficulty in handling a submarine is that when beneath the surface you can't see anything and when above it, if you are near an enemy's ship, you are liable to get knocked out by a shot.

I was ordered one afternoon to go for a cruiser. The time I chose was between daylight and dark, my object being to steal upon her to within a few hundred yards, get my bearings, duck, lessen the distance between me and her and fire my torpedo.

The weather favored the attempt, it being a murky evening, with just enough light for me to see a big ship and not enough for her to see all of my boat there was above water—the periscope. I gave the order to lower the horizontal rudder, and we went down, intending to make a curve I had figured out, coming up near the cruiser amidships. Everything looked well for success, and, having completed the first half of the arc, I gave the order for a gradual elevation of the rudder.

What was my horror to find that my boat did not obey! I knew at once that my attempt would be a failure, and I knew furthermore that I, my crew and the submarine were in danger of going to the bottom and staying there. Unfortunately when I gave the order to stop her, to keep from going any lower, the engineer lost his head, and turning the wrong handle, put on power instead of taking it off. This gave us so much momentum that before we could take any measures to right our direction we were scraping bottom.

There was nothing for it but to let the water out of the tanks in order to rise straight up to the surface. What I feared occurred. We were under so much pressure that the pump was not able to overcome it. This indicated another danger—if the pumps could not overcome the outside pressure we would not be able to lift the cap of the periscope, which in case we couldn't get the boat to the surface meant that we would not be able to escape through the conning tower.

I sprang to the hand pump. I didn't need to give an order to the crew, for they knew as well as I that this was our only hope, and a very thin hope, because it was hardly to be expected that we could do what a mechanical force could not do. Knowing that our lives depended upon our success, we worked with that superhuman power that is given to man when some great object is to be achieved.

All in vain we worked till we found that our efforts were growing less; then one after another in quick succession abandoned the effort.

Not a man of us but saw certain death ahead. We could not make the rudder work, and neither of the pumps was sufficiently powerful to expel the water from the tanks. The most fearful part of it was that we must die a lingering death.

Our chief thought was of those we would leave behind us, and, thinking that the boat might eventually be recovered, some of the men set about writing letters to leave in her, bidding loved ones goodbye and telling them of our last moments in the flesh. I, knowing that it would be some time before death would come to us, thought only of a possible means of escape. The only hope was that when it became evident that we had sunk and could not rise an effort would be made to save us. But how could wreckers work within a few hundred feet of an enemy's guns?

Suddenly a thought struck me. Desiring to have as much depth room as possible, I had consulted the almanac and found that the flood tide corresponded with the hour of approaching darkness. We had gone under at high tide, the difference between flood and ebb being sixteen feet. In other words, we had sixteen feet more of water pressure on us than we would have at the ebb. I electrified the crew by telling them the situation. Here was a hope. If our engine could empty the tanks at low tide we would be saved.

That was a long six hours. In four hours we made a trial, but without success. In five hours we tried again. There seemed to be occasional rises of, say, a foot or two. In another half hour we tried it again and could feel ourselves rising, but very slowly. However, as the pressure above lessened we went up more rapidly till we reached the surface.

Shall I ever forget that first sight of the upper world?

Two days later I tried, again and blew up the cruiser and 400 men.

EXPO. COMMITTEE WILL MEET IN ELKS' BUILDING TUESDAY

At the meeting of the general committee on the Richmond exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition, to be held next Tuesday evening in the Elks building, details of the display to be made will be taken up. The committee consists of members of the local commercial organizations, including the Industrial Commission, Merchants' Exchange, the Merchants' Association and the women's clubs, the presidents of which are members, and the city council.

Commissioner John Bermingham Jr. has already allotted the space and Architect James T. Nabett has drawn the plans of the general Contra Costa exhibit. The plans for the Richmond section will be discussed at the meeting Tuesday. It seems to be the general desire that a fine assortment of enlarged photographs, city and county maps and literature should be provided.

Several of the largest plants in Richmond will have special exhibits in the county space. The Standard Oil Company is to erect a beautiful pyramid showing its oils. The Los Angeles Pressed Brick Works will spend $2000 on a gorgeous pavilion of fancy pressed and glazed brick with a tiled roof. The Western States Porcelain Ware Works will have a display of plumbers' sanitary goods, which Manager Matthew Platts says will be the finest ever burned in this country.

The special Richmond space, 18x20 feet, will be next the entrance to the Contra Costa enclosure, so that all visitors that enter must see the Richmond exhibit.

LABOR NEWS

"In unity there is strength, united we stand divided we fall."

LABOR PAPER DISCREDITS RUMORED ORGANIZATION OF M. M. & E. IN SACRAMENTO

It has been reported several times in the last week that there is a movement on foot to organize an M. M. & E. association in Sacramento. It has been stated in daily papers that 49 firms of Sacramento had signed up in the association and that a campaign similar to the one waged in Stockton would be started to bring about open shop conditions.

The reports are discredited by the Sacramento Tribune, the official paper of organized labor in the capital city.

"There are many reasons which we can advance why such a thing is unlikely," says the paper in a leading editorial.

"In the first place there are no manufacturing plants in the community employing a large number of men. There are several large stores, to be sure, which do an extensive business both in the city and outside; but we do not believe that they could be induced to enter into such an arrangement. There are no labor troubles in the community, nor does there seem to be any prospect at present of anything of that character materializing."

The Vallejo Tribune, in an account of the rumor, says:

"The fact that a Stockton print shop is known to have printed a card purporting to be the 'preliminary declaration of principles' of such an organization, and the added fact that Leonard S. Calkins, organizer of the Stockton Merchants, Manufacturers and Employers' Association, is in Sacramento, are the main reasons for believing that an organization is being perfected."

DEATH BENEFITS FOR RELATIVES OF UNION MEN THAT FIGHT

The European war, which has resulted in the enlistment of many workmen from Canada to serve with the British troops, may strike heavily at the treasuries of several international unions which are affiliated with the American Federation of Labor. Just what effect the war may have directly on the American trade unions is shown in the case of the International Typographical Union.

Owing to the mortuary benefits which are paid out of the international treasury of that organization to families of members who are in good standing at the time of their death, the international treasury now has assumed liabilities amounting to in the neighborhood of $40,000 because of the enlistment of Canadian members of the union in the army.

The International Typographical Union pays a mortuary benefit up to $400 to members who have been in the union five years or more. It was said at the headquarters of the union in Indianapolis that more than 100 members who live in Canada were sent to Europe with the first contingent of soldiers which left Canada.

The question of whether the international would assume the liabilities of death in the war recently came before the general executive board of the union, and it was decided that the benefits would be paid as in the case of natural death, provided that good standing of the member was maintained during his enlistment. No word has yet been received at the headquarters of the death of any of the members who enlisted at the first call.

NO CHANGE IN NAVY YARD SCALE

VALLEJO, Jan. 2.—Word was received at Mare Island late this afternoon that the wage board had decided that there shall be no change in wages of employees at navy yards for the ensuing year. An effort had been made by some of the mechanics employed at the local yard to have the wages increased. This was especially true of the machinists. The wage board, after considering the representations made by personal appearance before the body and also by submitting written statements, has concluded to continue the same scale as is now in use.

Definite announcement has been made that the Dibble Air Brake Co. will open up a small manufacturing plant on the Gately ranch, near this city. The concern will start on a moderate scale, and the output will be increased with the increase in business.

HERB DOCTORS MAKE SPECIAL OFFER TO DISCOURAGED SUFFERERS

Unusual Opportunity to try These Herbs at Cost

To convince the most doubtful, we will give to any one mentioning this announcement a seven-days' treatment of herbs at half price. This is barely enough to cover the cost of the herbs. At the end of this trial you will be able to judge for yourself just how efficient this herb treatment is. We have letters of thanks for cures of almost every known disease. These letters from local and out-of-town sufferers are open to your inspection at our office. The following are two of the many letters showing the high regard in which we are held by our many grateful patients:

Dr. Chan—
Dear Sir: I am pleased to testify to the merits of your Chinese Herbs, which I had occasion to use for stomach trouble, after trying several physicians for three years and obtained no relief. Yours truly,

MERMAIDS ARE FEATURE AT PANTAGES

Dancing, diving and swimming mermaids will be featured on the Pantages bill for the week commencing today, when the diving Venus, Lottie Mayer, and her bevy of aquatic beauties open their engagement. Laurie Ordway, England's clever singing comedienne, in her original character songs, will be the special attraction. "A Strenuous Daisy" is the title of a rapid fire playlet which Violet Neils, Jack Phipps and their company present.

Lively entertainment will be offered by Davis and Walker, man and woman, who present a funny skit, called "A Lesson in Dancing." Startling feats in juggling will be shown by De Witt Young and his sister. Shere and Herman are a duo of comedians with a melange of fifty nonsense. A musical treat is promised in the appearance of Carl Victor, cellist, former soloist with the Theodore Bendix stringed quartet. Comedy motion pictures completes the bill.

"Tales of a Million Dollars"

--While Making $100 Plus

This is simply one episode in the financial career of Mrs. May Smith—a lady who has made over $100,000 from Richmond real estate.

Three years ago she bought from Burg Bros. Inc. the best lots in their Richmond-Pullman Townsite—lots 5 and 6, block 12. The price, then, $3500.

One year ago she was offered $7500 for these lots; a profit of $4000 in two years.

She refused. She still owns them. We can guess what she values these lots at by the fact that she recently offered to buy two adjoining inside lots—sold originally for $1400, $100 down, $2 a month—for $4000.

RICHMOND IS MERELY STARTED

Could this shrewd business woman show any more strongly HER belief in that statement? She knows what these lots of hers will be worth in another year or so—she has looked ahead with just such reasoning as we ourselves use in our book, "How to Buy Real Estate for Profit." OUTFIELD TO BE PLOWED IN FEW DAYS

Within the next week or ten days the work of plowing up and rolling the outfield of the diamond at Recreation Park will be started. It is the intention of Manager Luce to put the outer gardens in better shape than they ever were before. All the spots on the diamond will be gone over, with a view of making the battlefield here one of the best in the state outside of the Coast League.

The management is also tentatively planning for improvements to the grand stand before the season opens. How extensive these improvements will be and how much they will cost will be made public in a few days.

CLAY'S CONDITION IS SERIOUS

Reports received here yesterday from the county hospital at Martinez are to the effect that the condition of William Clay, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Clay of this city, is very serious. The lad is suffering from a gunshot wound in his right arm. Attending physicians fear that blood poisoning will set in.

INQUEST FINDS DEATH WAS ACCIDENT

At the inquest held at Byron yesterday by Coroner C. L. Abbott, a verdict was rendered that John Hurley came to his death accidentally while trying to steal a ride on a Southern Pacific train near Martinez. Members of the train crew were in attendance at the inquest. They testified that they had seen Hurley attempt to catch hold of the rods underneath a box car while the train was traveling at a high rate of speed.

When Hurley's lifeless body was picked up it was found that the neck was broken in three places.

RICHMOND FANS SMOKE UP OVER CHANCE OF LOCALS TO GET INTO STATE LEAGUE

Richmond fans are smoking up over the chances of the local baseball team to get into the State League, which will undoubtedly be organized this year. It seems to be the consensus of opinion that the local ball tossers are fast enough and the city large enough to entitle it to a berth in the new league.

Stockton and Sacramento fans are excited over the proposed new league. There is no doubt but that it will go through, although all the plans now are tentative. Stockton, Sacramento and San Jose are sure of places in the league. Other towns that have been mentioned are San Diego and Fresno. Why not Richmond, the local fans ask.

There is little doubt that the fans here would fall for two games a week, as proposed. Of course, the league would have to be a strong one and have an able board of directors under capable management, could the league hope to prosper. One difficulty here would be the playing of the Saturday game. Most of the boys on the local club work every day, and it would be hard for them to get Saturday afternoons off. But it is possible that the first game could be played on Sunday morning. These details could be arranged later.

Bill Luce, the Elks' manager, stated this afternoon that he proposes to thoroughly investigate the State League idea.

It is probable a meeting will be held in Sacramento in the near future. Luce and other local baseball boosters are planning to be in attendance at that meeting.

Richmond is centrally located, has desirable transportation facilities, has a good baseball park and several hundred wild-eyed fans and fannies. Why couldn't Richmond take its place in this league?

SPORTING GOULASH

Bill Luce is figuring out the whys and wherefores of a proposed Richmond Club in the State League.

Sacramento and Stockton have always been strong supporters of State League baseball, while both clubs were in the league. Sacramento is bound to have some kind of baseball this season, whether it is Trolley League, State League or Federal League. The State League idea seems the most feasible at this time.

League or no league, Richmond will have fast ball this year. The local club in the past has always gone better when it cut loose from a league. The eight-club league that was started last season was unwieldy.

Winehaven is planning to have another real honest-to-goodness aggregation this year.

If "Brick" Devereaux is landed for the local club this year, Richmond fans will get baseball and comedy at the same time for the same price of admission.

"Big Bill" James, Boston hurler, whose great work during the world's series was instrumental in landing the pennant for Stallings, spends his time between Oroville and San Francisco. Oroville is James' home town.

Battling Levinsky and Gunboat Smith had another fight. Joe Rivers and Leach Cross haven't a thing on these two big "ham and egggers."

Speaking of O'Hara, Connie Mack's first name is Cornelius also. What's in a name?

It's just about time now for Martinez to come to the front and claim the semi-pro championship of the state. That's the regular thing with the County Seaters each year, until Richmond has to give them the once over and show them some real baseball.

We also expect Martinez to come forth with the assertion that "Chuck" Wilcox is as great a pitcher as Dick Rudolph. That's another line of chatter that comes from up the line annually.

HEAR the praises of MY predecessor SUNG and cried. I DON'T LIKE IT. BUT, what can I do? MAYBE WHEN I leave They will shed a couple OF TEARS over me. BUT I'D BETTER lay OFF that talk of Leaving.

IT'S GOING TO BE A LONG, COLD WINTER. I'D HATE TO LOSE THOSE HAM AND EGGS right now. I WISH the editor, AND THE GIRL, AND BIG BUSH, AND LITTLE BUSH, AND EVERYBODY ELSE IN the office WOULD forget about THAT guy AND think OF ME.

RICHMOND ELKS CLUB TO BE AGGREGATION OF "VETS" THIS SEASON, STATES LUCE

Although it is midwinter and the opening of the baseball season is still a couple of months away, Manager Luce of the Richmond Elks is already crystallizing definite plans regarding the roster of the local club for the 1915 season. It is expected that this year will be the best year for baseball that Richmond has ever had. Certain it is that the fans of Richmond took more interest in their club the latter part of last season than ever before.

According to present plans there will be but few changes in the lineup of the locals. Burns and Gordon, two of the best bush hurlers in the state, will be on the "top again. Cliff Cleek will do the catching again.

"Swat" Ingraham will be back at his old position on first base. "Midg-et" Childs is slated for the short garden again.

Second base is a position that is worrying Luce. The local magnate is already hunting for a man to guard the keystone sack.

"Brick" Devereaux is being figured on to captain the club. Luce expects to come to terms with the veteran of many diamond battles within the next few days. Devereaux is now at his home in Alameda. If he comes to terms with the local club he will play third base.

Devereaux has been managing and captaining clubs for years. And it might be added that he has brought home a few pennants in his time.

"Cutey" Cunningham will be in left field again this term. He came to terms with the local management several days ago. Roy Woodbury will probably start the season with the local colts again this year. When he is right Woodbury is one of the fastest bushers around the bay.

Center field is a position that the management has no one in mind for at the present time. Luce will try to get a center fielder or second baseman who can fill the role of utility catcher in case anything should happen to Cleek.

ADS ARE POPULAR READING.

A newspaper's information also varied it contains news to suit everyone. Some years ago a person who read the ads in a newspaper or magazine was considered odd, and it is true the ads were crude, the articles advertised often being out of season or of a style and texture entirely out of fashion. But now it is different. Advertising furnishes the most interesting reading matter in the newspaper. It is instructive, teaching the public how to reduce the cost of living and at the same time get the best standard goods.

Pen Paralysis! Have you got it?

NO, we do not mean merely paralysis of the fingers. We mean another kind of paralysis far more serious; the kind that paralyzes the pen writer—not sometimes but always.

Pen writing in this age means needless time waste, needless labor waste, needless fatigue. Every one who continues to write with the pen in this day of the typewriter is placing himself under a heavy time and labor handicap, a handicap which means partial paralysis of all his energies.

The cure for pen paralysis, the new and certain cure, is the Miss Daisy Blackburn, eldest daughter of Mrs. C. M. Gaston of Bay Point, became the bride of Carl T. Hansen at a wedding ceremony solemnized at the Gaston home on Thursday night. In honor of the event the house was decorated profusely, the color scheme being pink and white. A large arch of evergreen and pepper berries was erected in one corner of the parlor. Behind the arch was banked hundreds of calla lilies. A large white wedding bell hung from the center of the arch. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. Jopson of the Christian church under this bell.

Godfrey Hauson, brother of the groom, best man; Bernice Johnson, honor girl; Violet Gaston and Edna Johnson, ribbon girls; Delight Gaston, ring bearer.

Mrs. Anna V. Staley of Richmond, music teacher of the bride, played the march, Mendelssohn's "Spring Song."
